Women in Science and Engineering (WiSE)

Join engineer, yoga teacher, and wellness coach Sarah Guglielmi for an interactive session on the science of stress. Understanding the different types and causes of stress is an important step toward identifying and managing it. Learn actionable techniques to address stress at its root, and most importantly, feel better!

Sarah's experience as a STEM student (with degrees in mechanical engineering and materials engineering), former process, R&D and product development engineer, and now a member of the Himalayan Institute and Yoga International faculties have provided her with a unique understanding of the stressors faced by women in STEM, and how intentional lifestyle and wellness techniques can help.

Lunch will be served and seats are limited. Please RSVP via UBLinked to save your seat!

Weekly, Monday through Thursday | 6:00—8:00 PM | 330 Bell

UB Pilots Association

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT

Professor Bradley Darrall

Q: How long have you been at UB?

A: A long time... 9 years as a student, and 3.5 years as a faculty member.

Q: Where did you grow up?

Q: What is your favorite thing about UB?

A: The diversity. I have been blessed to meet people from many different cultures and walks of life. I have learned so much about people, personalities, cultures, customs etc. from my countless interactions with students and peers. I don't take the perspective I have gained for granted.

Q: What is your favorite place to travel?

A: Everywhere! Outside of UB I am passionate about music and travel. Most recently I travelled to Ireland, but I have been all over the world, including New Zealand, Japan, and Iceland, just to name a few. Maybe my favorite place I have been is Switzerland, but it's tough to pick one.

Q: What is your favorite food?

A: Chicken wings!
